Owen Taylor & Sons Ltd Statement on Dutch Egg Pesticide Fipronil

Owen Taylor is fully aware of the Food Standards Agency update on Fipronil in eggs.

Our fresh egg supplier to Owen Taylor supply only locally sourced British eggs. The source of contamination is Dutch eggs and therefore our fresh egg supply is not affected by the Fipronil incident.

Suppliers to Owen Taylor of other egg products have been contacted. We can confirm that none of the products supplied by Owen Taylor are affected by Fipronil.

Owen Taylor & Sons Ltd will continue to monitor the situation and take appropriate action in line with any further details released by the Food Standards Agency. We will then continue to communicate openly with our customers on this matter.

Please find below links for further details on this matter.
